HIGHLIGHTS

Belfast

From the birthplace of the Titanic to its iconic City Hall, there is a cornucopia of historic landmarks and world-class visitor attractions in Belfast. Cave Hill's imposing outline is visible throughout the city. The landmark, named for the five caves located on the side of the cliffs, contains a wealth of natural, archaeological and historical features, including Belfast Castle.

Dublin

A small capital with a huge reputation, Dublin has a mix of heritage and hedonism that will not disappoint. John Mulligan's pub is a cultural institution established in 1782. John F Kennedy paid his respects in 1945, when he joined the cast of regulars. Or visit Trinity College, a 16th century bucolic retreat in the heart of the city and Ireland's most prestigious university.

Cardiff

Cardiff Castle is the result of an extraordinary transformation in the late 19th century by architect William Burges. He created some of the most lavish interiors in Britain, inspired by Gothic, Mediterranean and Arabian styles. One of the many fascinating secrets of Cardiff Castle is a network of underground tunnels, used as air-raid shelters during World War II.
